What You Need to Know About the Changing Demographics in Oregon and What Your Business or Organization Can Do to Keep Up

- Which population has grown over 144% in 10 years?
 - Did you know Boomers aren't the only population who's booming?
 - Only 1 in 4 Oregon students graduate high school ready for college. What does this mean for employers?

The face of Oregon is changing. What does this mean for your business, or school district? What does this mean for our economy? Our workforce development needs? What does it mean for social service providers? What does this mean for you?

Take advantage of this rare opportunity to hear from Richard Bjelland, State Housing Analyst, with Oregon Housing & Community Services (OHCS)

Richard's Key Responsibilities:

- Conducts research and analysis on housing related issues and demographics
- Serves as a research resource for OHCS divisions
- Advises other state agencies and governments
- Conducts economic impact analyses

After Richard's presentation we will "connect the dots" as Stephanie Soares Pump, Director of Training and Community Education for Oregon Partnership, helps you assess what the changing face of Oregon means to you.
