
Executive Moms

Juggling Career And Motherhood

Tuesday, February 12, 9:00 - 10:30 a.m.

Montgomery Park

2701 NW Vaughn Avenue, Portland 97210

Sponsored by Oregon Partnership

Only $35, Register Now, Free Parking!

Across Oregon, women are running companies or starting their own businesses, plus managing their children and households. They look like a million dollars as they drop off their child at school before heading into the office for a conference call, they check email on Blackberries from soccer games, they juggle caring for a sick child with meeting a deadline for a strategic marketing plan. How do these Executive Moms do it all? Learn their secrets to success, hear tips for work/life balance, find ways to enlist more help from your partner, extended family and childcare provider, and get advice on how to not only get through it all, but actually enjoy life as a working mom.

Panelists:

- Lani Hayward, Executive Vice President of Creative Strategies, Umpqua Bank
- Carolyn Hollowell, Director of Marketing-Oregon, Cricket-LCW Wireless
- Erin Hubert, Vice-President & General Manager, Entercom Radio
- Martha Nielsen, PNW Regional Lead/Marketing Manager, Starbucks
- Sue Shellenbarger, Work & Family Columnist, The Wall Street Journal
- Stephanie A. Smith, M.A., Professional Coach, Carpenter Smith Consulting
- Joani Wardwell, Director of Public Relations, Wieden + Kennedy

Panel discussion will be led by Natali Marmion, News Anchor, KATU. Natali has been with KATU for more than ten years. She is married with two children.

To register, email Danny Slifman at dslifman@orpartnership.org or call 503-244-5211.